Important Facts About Sending Art-Work

Because of the various products we produce, the specified art requirements may vary. Over the years, we have found that a vector art-work works best for most of our products.

Remember, these are tried and tested ways of interfacing your art-work with our systems of production. If for some reason you cannot get the art-work to us in one of the preferred formats, we are happy to try and work out other options. Please feel free to ask our art department about any issues you may have.

Our art department is extensive and would be happy to offer you a reasonable rate for re-working your art-work should it be needed.
